Stop the brutality

Animal Aid has filmed inside a number of UK slaughterhouses and uncovered terrible cruelties including animals being beaten, goaded and improperly stunned. The group has exposed routine breaches of animal protection laws, despite the 'strict procedures' that are intended to reassure the public that animals are safeguarded from the worst of the suffering. The installation of CCTV in all UK slaughterhouses would ensure best practice, help with training and retraining staff, and provide evidence for prosecutions.

We, the undersigned, urge the Defra Minister of State for animal welfare to ensure that CCTV is installed in all UK slaughterhouses.
